Peregrine Papers at The MDW Fair

PEREGRINEPROGRAM presented a group exhibition Peregrine Papers at The MDW Fair, an event organized by threewalls, Roots & Culture and Public Media Institute. The fair comprised independent art initiatives, spaces, galleries and artist groups from the Chicago metropolitan area, demonstrating the diversity, strength and vision of the people/places making it happen in the art ecology of the region. For- and non-profit, unincorporated galleries, independent curatorial projects, publishers and media groups gathered in over 25,000 square feet of exhibition space, manifesting the collective spirit behind the region's most innovative visual cultural organizers, focusing on the breadth of work done here by artists and arts-facilitators alike.

Peregrine Papers began with an open call for participation, asking for submissions (preferably anonymous) of 4" x 6" works on/of paper. Everyone was invited to take part, to send paintings or drawings on traditional supports, doodles on index cards, plain or altered postcards and photographs, prints, collages, newspaper or magazine snippets, origami, etc. The theme was open, with the aim of finally presenting a single ephemeral work of fleeting and foreign experiences, echoing The MDW Fair itself. This group show was a rotating exhibition. During the fair, visitors were invited to take any one piece that appealed to them, following which a replacement piece would be installed.

Conceived in the spirit of The MDW Fair, Peregrine Papers allowed for the redistribution of collective goodwill, and also aimed to make both makers and viewers think about the values one held with regard to time, effort and art itself.

###

PEREGRINEPROGRAM presented Peregrine Papers, a group exhibition at The MDW Fair from April 23 - April 24, 2011.

* In total, more than 300 pieces were passed along over the span of 14 hours, or about 20 per hour.
